Lesson Application: The Twelve Apostles

Apostle	What We Know About Him
Peter, Simon	Peter was a fisherman. Jesus changed his name from Simon to Peter, meaning “rock.” Peter was one of Jesus’ central three disciples and was somewhat impulsive. Peter denied knowing Jesus during His trial, but was a bold witness for Christ on Pentecost and later emerged as leader of the church in Jerusalem. Peter wrote two New Testament letters.
James, Son of Zebedee, Son of Thunder	James was John’s brother and one of Jesus’ central three disciples. He was a fisherman in business with John and their father, Zebedee. He was ambitious and short-tempered, but fully committed to Jesus. James was the first of the twelve disciples to be martyred.
John, Son of Zebedee, Son of Thunder	John was a fisherman with his brother, James, and their father. He was one of Jesus’ central three disciples. John was ambitious and judgmental, but later became very loving and gentle. Before Jesus died on the cross, He gave John responsibility for His mother’s care. John was exiled to the island of Patmos and was the last of the twelve apostles to die. He wrote the Gospel of John, three letters and Revelation.
Andrew	Andrew was Peter’s brother and a fisherman. When Andrew discovered Jesus was the Messiah, he immediately found Peter and brought him to Jesus. Andrew was eager to share the Good News with others.
Philip	Philip was from Bethsaida, which was Peter and Andrew’s hometown, and was one of the first disciples Jesus asked to follow Him. Philip told Nathanael about Jesus.
Bartholomew, Nathanael	Bartholomew is called Nathanael in John’s gospel. Nathanael asked if anything good could come from Nazareth. After his encounter with Jesus, Nathanael became a believer, declaring Jesus as the Son of God. Jesus called Nathanael a “true son of Israel” and “an honest man.”

Summary

Apostle	What We Know About Him
Matthew, Levi	Matthew was a tax collector. After becoming one of Jesus' disciples, Matthew hosted a dinner party and introduced his fellow tax collectors to Jesus. He wrote the Gospel of Matthew.
Thomas	Thomas was a twin. He didn't believe the other disciples' claim that Jesus had risen from the dead, making him the original 'doubting' Thomas. After Jesus showed Thomas the wound in His side, he declared Jesus as Lord and God.
James, Son of Alphaeus	Luke's gospel refers to James as the Son of Alphaeus. There is not much information about this disciple. He is often confused with Jesus' half-brother, James, and John's older brother, James, who was also a disciple.
Simon, the Zealot	Zealots were militant extremist who were strongly opposed to Roman rule. Zealots believed only God should rule Palestine and felt this belief justified their murderous acts. Simon gave up this lifestyle to follow Jesus.
Judas, son of James, Thaddaeus	Judas was called Thaddaeus in Matthew and Mark's gospel. Luke called this disciple Judas, son of James. John's gospel referred to this disciple as Judas, not Iscariot.
Judas, Iscariot	Judas was in charge of the disciple's money bag and was the disciple who betrayed Jesus.
